

One child, who may seem so insignificant,
Yet in those mischievous eyes, you will see the glint of the future shining deep and bright.

One child, a treasure of unimaginable value,
as unique as a snow flake and sweet as sugarcane
One child, so innocent and pure.

One child, as fragile and as beautiful as a porcelain egg...
One child, so simple, and yet so complex with endless boundaries in their mind.
